

February 17, 2003
Screen Daily

AFI, AFMA team for internships at AFM

By Mike Goodridge

The American Film Institute (AFI) and AFMA are teaming up to establish an internship program focusing on packaging and selling feature films; the program, which is exclusively available to AFI Conservatory Producing fellows, will run during the American Film Market which starts this week.

The interns will be placed with production and distribution companies with offices at AFM including Alliance Atlantis, Cinema Vault Releasing, Crystal Sky, Curb Entertainment, ECG Worldwide, Icon Entertainment, Keystone Entertainment, Lions Gate Films International, Motion Picture Corporation Of America, Moviehouse Entertainment, Myriad Pictures, New Concorde, Powerhouse Entertainment and The Works.

The AFI Conservatory offers a Master Of Fine Arts (MFA) film studies program and its producer alumni include Jon Avnet, Steve Golin, Marshall Herskovitz and Joni Sighvatsson.